

Service Fellow in Environmental Epidemiology

CDC/NCHS
Hyattsville, MD

As a member of the Analysis Branch within the Division of Health and Nutrition Examination Surveys, the Service Fellow will conduct analyses with NHANES data on environmental health-related topics. In collaboration with other researchers within and outside NCHS, the Fellow is expected to plan and carry out high-quality research, selecting appropriate statistical and epidemiologic methods utilizing NHANES data. The Fellow will prepare comprehensive reports of study results for NCHS and scientific publication. The Fellow will also contribute expert consultation to the NHANES environmental health component.
